

BILL BARONI
Republican
Clean Elections Candidate

I have always believed talking with people about the issues that matter most to them is one of the most important things an elected official can do. That's why I knock on doors and hold town meetings. Since 2003, I have knocked on over 27,000 doors and it's where I gain the most valuable insight.

It has been an honor serving you in the State Assembly. I've had the privilege of working alongside Senator Peter Inverso - a man known for his honesty, independence, and hard work - on important issues like ethics reform, property tax reform and protecting our children. When Senator Inverso announced his retirement, I was humbled when he said I was the right person to carry on his legacy in the Senate.

In the Assembly, I've worked hard to become a leader on ethics reform: I've fought to ban unethical practices such as dual office-holding and pay-to-play and put an end to wasteful spending. I am proud to be an author of one of the most important ethics laws in the state - Fair and Clean Elections, which takes the influence of big money out of politics and puts the power in the hands of voters.

I will continue fighting everyday to end the "Culture of Corruption" and working to make New Jersey a more affordable place to live. I will continue knocking on doors and talking with you about these important issues. And I will continue the Inverso legacy of honesty, independence and hard work.

ADAM BUSHMAN
Republican
Clean Elections Candidate

Over the past several months I've knocked on thousands of doors all over our district. By knocking on doors and meeting in living rooms I have gathered new perspectives, inspiration, and ideas. I've discovered we share common values - we want our state to be a clean, safe, and affordable place to live, work, and raise a family.

But ever-increasing corruption is driving up property taxes and making it harder to afford to live here. New Jersey needs strong leadership now more than ever. Our leaders must fight to eliminate corruption and make New Jersey a more affordable place.

Leadership isn't new to me. As a member of the town council, I led the charge for tax exemptions for families. As a sergeant in the New Jersey Air National Guard I led in the defense of our families after our country was attacked on 9/11, serving to protect our country from terrorist threats. As a father, I raised my children, Ryan and Nicolette, to value education, honesty and hard work.

Now - as your Assemblyman - I will serve with independence, hard work, honesty and integrity. I will lead to reform corruption and help make New Jersey a more affordable place.

I am proud to be running alongside Bill Baroni and Tom Goodwin to bring the fight for reform to the State House. Together, Bill, Tom and I will carry on the legacy of Senator Peter Inverso - honesty, independence, and hard work.

WAYNE DeANGELO
Democrat
Clean Elections Candidate

Running as a 'clean candidate' for General Assembly has given me the opportunity to communicate directly with voters whom I hope to represent.

As a leader in local and regional labor union organizations and current president of the Mercer County Building Trades, I work daily for New Jersey's working families. I am the assistant business manager with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) Local 269 where I started as a journeyman electrician. As a union leader, I worked to create one of the state's largest solar panel systems to promote energy independence and alternative energy sources.

While serving on the Hamilton Township Council, I stopped waste in our local budget, cut unnecessary spending, and passed a moratorium on property tax assessments. I reformed local government by banning nepotism in hiring and requiring developers to disclose campaign contributions. As a father of two daughters, I supported the creation of Pedophile-Free zones in the Hamilton Township to protect children from predators while at school or at play in a community park.

Reducing property taxes and rooting out waste and corruption will be a legislative priority. In the Assembly, I will call for the creation of Pedophile-Free zones in neighborhoods statewide and the expansion of alternative energy sources like solar panels and bio-fuels so we can cut gas prices and reduce our dependency on foreign oil.

I ask for the support of voters in the 14th District so that I may continue fighting for hard-working families, taxpayers, and seniors.

TOM GOODWIN
Republican
Clean Elections Candidate

In running for State Assembly as a Clean Elections candidate, I've met with thousands of families all over the 14th District. Knocking on doors and listening to families at gatherings in living rooms and backyards, I have heard one common theme: we want leaders who will bring government away from the special interests and put it back where it belongs - with the people.

As a Councilman in Hamilton I have worked hard to do just that. I helped reform the "Culture of Corruption" that has become politics as usual in New Jersey. During my first year in office I worked to enact the toughest ban on "pay-to-play" anywhere in New Jersey. As your Assemblyman, I will continue fighting for ethics reform by working to eliminate "pay-to-play" once and for all, and ensure the success of the Clean Elections program.

I am proud to be running with two more strong reformers, Bill Baroni and Adam Bushman. Together Bill, Adam and I have traveled across the 14th District, putting our commitment for ethics reform into practice. By refusing big money contributions and only collecting small $10 donations from voters in our district, we proved that Clean Elections can succeed in New Jersey.

If elected, I will continue knocking on doors, holding town meetings, and working hard everyday to reform the "Culture of Corruption" and make New Jersey a more affordable place. Together, Bill, Adam and I will carry on the legacy of Senator Peter Inverso - honesty, independence, and hard work.

LINDA R. GREENSTEIN
Democrat
Clean Elections Candidate

As the author of the Fair and Clean Elections Law, I am proud to be a participant in this program that takes special interest money out of elections and puts voters first. As a former Deputy Attorney General and disability attorney for a non-profit agency, I have always fought for the public interest, not special interests.

I have been a proud supporter of clean government initiatives to end dual office holding, prevent officials from pension double-dipping, and ban pay-to-play at all levels of government.

I also fought for working families by supporting a substantial reduction in property taxes and calling for a state constitutional convention for property tax reform. I sponsored the nation's toughest anti-telemarketing law, expanded the scope of Megan's Law, and increased school bus safety. I sponsored a bill to require hospitals to report the spread of infectious disease and pushed for more affordable prescription drugs. I championed legislation providing funding for open space preservation.

In continuing to serve you in the Assembly, I will fight for further ethics reforms like tougher penalties for corruption offenses. Property tax reform will remain a top priority of mine, as will ensuring that all residents have access to quality health care and needed prescription drugs.

I thank you, the residents of the 14th district, for allowing me to represent you since January 2000, and ask for your continued support. I pledge to continue to be an independent, reform-minded legislator whose only goal is to serve my constituents.

SEEMA SINGH
Democrat
Clean Elections Candidate

Throughout my life, I have stood up for what is right to protect families, seniors and taxpayers. I am proud to be the first Senate candidate to qualify under the Clean Elections program. I took on powerful interests to fight for cleaner energy and to protect our hard-earned money from government waste and abuse.

As Ratepayer Advocate, I pushed utility companies to control rates and move to renewable energy; and I helped stop a giant utility merger that threatened to drive up rates and cut almost a thousand New Jersey jobs. As Public Advocate nominee, I led an investigation exposing poor conditions in assisted living facilities.

In the Senate, I will make New Jersey a leader in using clean, renewable energy by continuing to stand up against big utilities by fighting for lower rates and better service. I will work for strong oversight of assisted living facilities to improve care for seniors and the disabled who deserve to live with dignity.

My record shows that I will shake things up and fight to lower property taxes and reform Trenton. I will protect women's and civil rights, advocate for stem cell research, protect Social Security, and send George Bush a message that it is time to safely bring our troops home from Iraq. My opponent and I are on opposite sides of all these fundamental issues.

I ask for your vote so we have a voice in Trenton that truly represents the views of the residents of the 14th District.
